SAINTS WITH SAL

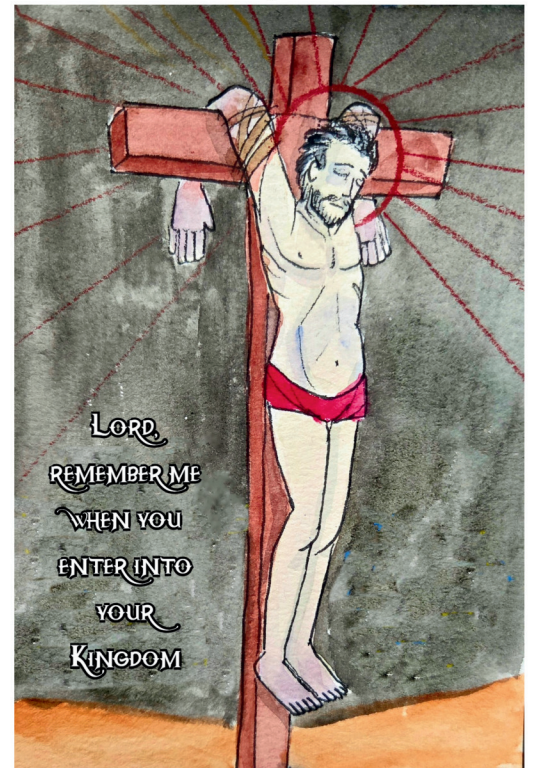

This is my father's patron saint. When Jesus was crucified at Calvary, two unnamed thieves were crucified on each side of him. While hanging on the cross the thief to Jesus's left mocked Jesus and told Jesus to save himself and show people he was God. The thief to the right of Jesus, called Dismas in the Gospel of Nicodemus rebuked the other thief, acknowledging their punishment was just but that Jesus was innocent. Dismas, also called the Penitent thief, looked to Jesus and asked "Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom" (Luke 23:42). Jesus replied, "Amen, I say to you, today you will be with me in Paradise." St. Dismas represents the possibility of final repentance and conversion. He is considered the first person to "enter" heaven after Christ, having received forgiveness in his final hours. Thank you Dismas.

· · THE PASTOR'S CORNER · ·

My friends, this past Friday, as the Church celebrated the Solemnity of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, we consecrated the United States to the Sacred Heart of Jesus for the 250th Anniversary. This consecration is very momentous in the life of the Catholic Church here in the U.S. I say this because it is only through the beloved and pierced/sacrificial heart of Jesus where we are able to acknowledge the loving Kingship of Christ and, as Pope St. Paul VI said, "infuse the spirit of the Gospel into various communities and departments of life." Pope Francis in Dilixi Nos, his last Apostolic Exhortation, he writes, "In contemplating the pierced heart of the Lord, who 'took our infirmities and bore our diseases, we too are inspired to be more attentive to the sufferings and needs of others and confirmed in our efforts to share in his work of liberation as instruments of the spread of his love. As we meditate on Christ's self-offering for the sake of all, we are naturally led to ask why we too should be ready to give of lives for others.'" In saying all of this, I would like us to reflect upon over these next several weeks on the phrase "The Heart Speaks"- meaning, although as humans we are given both the intellect and the will, the intellect working with the mind, and the will with the heart, it is truly in the intention of the heart where the mind is able to act and discern. For most if not all of us, we allow for our mind to do most of the talking; but in the life of Christ, His heart did. The reason is because He was so intimate with His Father for the love they shared, love that is the power of the heart, is impenetrable and unbreakable. We need to become individuals, Catholic Christians, who, in following the example of Christ, allow for our heart to speak rather than our intellect. That is not to say that the mind, whose power is the intellect, does not mean anything. No. On the contrary, the mind helps to voice the actions and discernments of the heart and helps the heart with knowledge and prudence. In consecrating our nation to the Sacred Heart, we go back to, as the 20th century Theologians said, the 'Resource Mont'- 'the return to the Source', and the 'source' is Jesus Christ, who established with his beloved and pierced heart a new nation, and eternal nation. A nation in which you and I and all people of the world are invited to be a part of.

Jesus, in our Gospel this weekend had a reaction to the crowd, it says, "At the sight of the crowds, Jesus' heart was moved with pity for them because they were troubled and abandoned, like sheep without a shepherd." This is where we see Jesus at His best. 'His heart was moved with pity', showing that he had compassion for the people who were lost; and you and I are no different than the crowd. We too are lost- personally and communally/nationally, physically and spiritually, emotionally, etc... And Jesus is the only one who notices it, and helps us to find our way through His compassionate and loving heart.

So, as we consecrate the United States to the Sacred Heart of Jesus and prepare for the 250th celebration, may we allow for our 'hearts to speak' as we echo the voice of the true 'heart that speaks', that of Christ's own Sacred Heart; and discern how we as the lost crowd in a nation and world, can listen to the voice of the true shepherd and be found through His love and grace.

NEWS FROM THE ARCHDIOCESE OF HARTFORD

JUNE 13 - 19, 2026

Laudato Si' Teachings Take Root at East Catholic Shoreline Academy

- Story by Shelley Wolf

In late May, parents and students wandered the halls and gymnasium, perusing colorful student art and exhibits at East Catholic Shoreline Academy in Branford.

In a timely spring activity, they learned how to sprout seedlings for a vegetable garden. And anyone who enjoyed a snack during the evening event was instructed by a group of youngsters in how to recycle or compost their packaging and leftovers.

It was all part of the school's "STREAM Night and Art Show," which showcased, among other initiatives, an ongoing Laudato Si' program.

Since 2022, East Catholic Shoreline Academy, or ESCA, has been incorporating Pope Francis' Laudato Si' teachings into its curriculum in all grades. Students are learning that taking care of God's creation is a moral and spiritual imperative.

"Every year we add something new," says Cheryl Panzo, principal of East Shoreline Catholic Academy, which serves students in pre-kindergarten through eighth grade. "It's really important for us. We definitely want to keep it going. Saving the Earth is kind of a big deal."

Laudato Si' is often celebrated on April 22, Earth Day, or on May 24, the anniversary of the day that Pope Francis' landmark encyclical, Laudato Si': On Care for Our Common Home, was released in 2015. The document urges everyone to find integrated solutions to address poverty, restore dignity to the excluded, and protect nature, problems that are frequently intertwined.

In 2022, ESCA began its Laudato Si' program by planting a schoolwide community garden. "We try to get the whole school involved. The focus is on gardening and sustainability," Panzo explains.

Students planted tomatoes, eggplant, peppers, lettuce, parsley and chives. "Our big goal, should we get there, is to have enough to give to the Branford Community Dining Room," Panzo says, "and to do a farm-to-table fundraiser."

This year, for the first time, a portion of the garden has been taken over by first graders, who planted a "Three-Sisters Garden" of corn, beans and squash.

"The beans use the corn stalks for support, and the squash acts as a fertilizer and keeps the moisture in to help the corn and beans grow," Panzo explains. "This is something Native Americans have been doing in Connecticut long before us."

"There's so much they can learn from this," says Mary Dobson, the first grade teacher, such as how to track the seasons and the weather. "We're also being stewards of God's creation by planting in the soil and seeing how plants grow. And we talk about how when you share your gifts and work together, it's amazing how much you can do."

In 2024, with a grant from the Connecticut Catholic Foundation, the school added a Green Team of fourth and fifth graders to take on special Laudato Si' projects.

The Green Team runs an ambitious composting project, using a video and signage to teach other students how to correctly sort lunch items. "Students are learning what can be composted or not, what's recyclable or not, and what's trash," Panzo explains.

In the cafeteria, Green Team members collect unopened food packages to donate to Food Share. Then they guide their fellow students in setting aside food scraps for a composting company, depositing used containers for recycling, and tossing the rest as trash.

Best of all, Blue Earth Compost, a composting company, picks up the scraps and returns them as soil and fertilizer for the community garden.

The Green Team, supervised by Nicole Truhart, instructs students in how to sort their disposable items into the proper recycling, landfill and compost containers.
