SAINTS WITH SAL

Saint Rita of Cascia was an Italian widow and mother who later became an Augustinian nun. Saint Rita was born Margherita Lotti in Roccaporena, Italy, in 1381. Rita married a man named Paulo Mancini and had two sons. Although it was a difficult marriage, through Rita's prayer and conversion, Paulo was able to become a better man. After Rita's husband died in a duel and her two sons died of illness Rita then entered a convent of Saint Mary Magdalene in Cascia and lived by the Augustinian rule until her death. Rita had a great devotion to the Passion of Christ, and one day, when she was sixty years old, she asked, "Please let me suffer like you, Divine Saviour." Saint Rita bore stigmata of a thorn from the crown of thorns that appeared on her forehead. Saint Rita is the patron saint of impossible cases. Over the last year I have made some friends in the archdiocese who have devotion to Saint Rita and find her a powerful intercessor. In my drawing of Saint Rita, I did an ink wash painting of St. Rita praying, holding a crucifix with her stigmata on her forehead. This drawing was then gifted to a family as a gift to their mother. When we are struggling and feel like we are facing impossible cases, let us pray to Saint Rita of Cascia for her intercession.

· · · THE PASTOR'S CORNER · · ·

My brothers and sisters, as we conclude the miniseries on St. Augustine, we now move toward the influence St. Augustine's Pastoral and Spiritual life has on Pope Leo. As many of us know Pope Leo, a native of the United States spent most of his ministry in Peru. As an Augustinian, a member of a Religious Order, he always speaks of himself as, "I am a son of St. Augustine" indicating to us how St. Augustine is his spiritual mentor. In all of his homilies, speeches, and writings thus far Pope Leo quotes St Augustine directly. Why? Because the context of what Pope Leo is writing in, is probably similar to that of St. Augustine. Augustine was human. He made human mistakes and was impacted by the world that surrounded him; but by the grace of God was able to overcome, and thus the context of what Augustine writes can in many ways relate to us. There are three distinct characteristics that St. Augustine 'teaches' and is emulated by Pope Leo: Unity, Communion and Fraternity; Peace; and Listening.

Unity, Communion, and Fraternity: In our Second Reading for today St. Paul, who is also a favorite of St. Augustine, reminds us that we, as the people of God, do not live for ourselves, or die for ourselves. Our lives were never given to us solely for our own individual purpose. Rather, we were created for each other. As St. Augustine says and Pope Leo reiterates, "With you I am a Christian, and for you I am a Bishop", meaning, that he is united with us as a member of Christ's body, speaking of unity and togetherness; while the other half is his role within the body itself. Each of us, although has our own individual gifts and vocations, but that only is a part of the whole. We belong to the Lord, who is one in all.

Peace: Over the course of the past year Pope Leo has constantly been vocal about peace. When Jesus is presented in our Gospel about Peter asking how many times we need to forgive, and Jesus responds with a number that signifies an infinite number of times and the Parable of the unforgiving servant it teaches us that forgiveness and mercy help lead to the path of peace, which then guides us toward unity and communion. St. Augustine lived during a time of turmoil and unrest, not just with war, but with what was right and wrong in the minds and hearts of the people. He repeatedly called for peace. St. Augustine once wrote, "The Church consists of all those who are in harmony with their brothers and sisters and who love their neighbor." If we truly are in harmony, with love, then peace and mercy reign; if not, then we are outside and we become the unforgiving servant who is cast out by the master leading to, "So will my heavenly Father do to you, unless each of you forgives your brother from your heart."

Listen: The third and final characteristic, although personal, still is seen within St. Augustine and Pope Leo. Pope Leo is a constant listener. One religious sister who works in the Vatican once told me that even before making a decision Pope Leo listens to everyone- both sides, and reflects. St. Augustine, too, was a listener who once said, "Do not have your heart in your ears, but your ears in your heart." This allows the concept of listening not to be passive in any sense, but rather active in particular reference to praying to God. Pope Leo once told the General Chapter of the Order of St. Augustine, "The Holy Spirit speaks, today as in the past. He does so in the penetralia cordis and through the brothers and the circumstances of life. This is why it is important for the atmosphere...to be in an atmosphere of listening: of listening to God and to others." So many times do we act on our own floriation without even pondering, like Mary, what sort of thing will happen next. Listening helps us to be grounded in obedience to God, and instruments of unity and peace. May we continue to pray for Pope Leo XIV through the intercession of St. Augustine, and through these characteristics, pray for ourselves as well so we may become a world that becomes united to Christ so we may experience the life that He renews in each of us.

-Fr. Matt

A Circle of Women Echo St. Pio's Devotion to Prayer

- Story by Karen A. Avitabile

A group of women inspired by St. Pio of Pietrelcina's deep devotion to prayer gathers weekly at the Padre Pio Foundation of America in Cromwell to pray for others.

"We pray from our hearts to Padre Pio," says prayer warrior Donna Morales of Cromwell. "He's drawing me here and we pray for the needs of the community. It's a calling."

For the past 20 years, Morales and three other women have been the core group of the Padre Pio Prayer Group which meets three mornings each week. Surrounded by statues, artwork and holy relics of St. Pio, they pray together, share intentions and support one another in faith in Our Blessed Mother of the Holy Innocents Chapel on the campus of the Padre Pio Foundation of America.

The group remembers in prayer all daily intentions left by guests to the Foundation, those who leave them on the website or call them in, says Julie Fitts Ritter, executive director of the Foundation. "We get letters and calls from all around the world asking for prayers," she says. "Our prayer group is powerful."

Through his intercessions, St. Pio of Pietrelcina, widely known as Padre Pio, has been celebrated for extreme physical healings, conversion, renewal of faith, and spiritual and temporal blessings. His spiritual advice centers on his signature catchphrases: "Pray, hope, and don't worry" and "Worry is useless." The saint also advised that "prayer is the best weapon we have."

Born on May 25, 1887, in southern Italy, St. Pio is considered a notable saint. Entering the novitiate of the Capuchin friars when he was 15, he

Three days a week, the Padre Pio Prayer Group meets at the Padre Pio Foundation of America in Cromwell to pray for the intentions of others. suffered both physically and spiritually. The five wounds of Christ's Passion appeared on his body on Sept. 20, 1918.

"Our prayer group is powerful," says Maria Pata of Cromwell, adding that prayers are extended to Pope Leo XIV, priests, the souls in purgatory, an increase in vocations and many other intentions. "Once you leave you feel peaceful."

Deep personal prayer routines remain a priority for the women apart from the group. "We continue our prayers outside of here," says Berlin resident Luanne Gagliardi. "We're bonded in a spiritual sense. What is most rewarding is you see the fruits of your prayer."

For Marie Sorensen of Berlin, the prayer group "keeps us grounded in our faith," she says, adding it is an opportunity to be part of a larger community. Outside of their prayer sessions, the women have become friends and get together socially.

For the past 15 years, Father William Trauba, a Capuchin priest from Mexico, has served as spiritual director of the Prayer Group. He participates virtually in the prayer sessions on Wednesdays.

"We pray from our hearts to Padre Pio," he says.

The Foundation, at 463 Main St., in Cromwell, is open Mondays through Fridays and on the first Saturday of each month. Visitors are invited to take part in the Padre Pio Prayer Group on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m., in Our Blessed Mother of the Holy Innocents Chapel. Also, visitors may pray the Divine Mercy Chaplet in the chapel Mondays through Fridays, from 3 to 3:30 p.m.

On Sept. 23, 1968, St. Pio died in San Giovanni Rotondo, Italy. He was canonized on June 16, 2002. To mark his feast day on Sept. 23, a Mass will take place at 11 a.m. in Our Lady, Queen of the Apostles Chapel on the campus of nearby Holy Apostles College & Seminary in Cromwell. Refreshments will follow at the Foundation. To R.S.V.P. or for more information, visit padrepio.com/events or call 860.635.4996.
