Mass Readings & Hymns

Reading I

2 Kings 4:8-11, 14-16a

One day Elisha came to Shunem, where there was a woman of influence, who urged him to dine with her. Afterward, whenever he passed by, he used to stop there to dine. So she said to her husband, "I know that Elisha is a holy man of God. Since he visits us often, let us arrange a little room on the roof and furnish it for him with a bed, table, chair, and lamp, so that when he comes to us he can stay there." Sometime later Elisha arrived and stayed in the room overnight. Later Elisha asked, "Can something be done for her?" His servant Gehazi answered, "Yes! She has no son, and her husband is getting on in years." Elisha said, "Call her." When the woman had been called and stood at the door, Elisha promised, "This time next year you will be fondling a baby son."

Responsorial Psalm

Psalm 89

R. Forever I will sing the goodness of the Lord.

The promises of the LORD I will sing forever, through all generations my mouth shall proclaim your faithfulness.

For you have said, "My kindness is established forever;"

in heaven you have confirmed your faithfulness. R.

Blessed the people who know the joyful shout;

in the light of your countenance, O LORD, they walk.

At your name they rejoice all the day,

and through your justice they are exalted. R.

You are the splendor of their strength,

and by your favor our horn is exalted.

For to the LORD belongs our shield,

and the Holy One of Israel, our king. R.

Reading II

Romans 6:3-4, 8-11

Brothers and sisters: Are you unaware that we who were baptized into Christ Jesus were baptized into his death? We were indeed buried with him through baptism into death, so that, just as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, we too might live in newness of life. If, then, we have died with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him. We know that Christ, raised from the dead, dies no more; death no longer has power over him. As to his death, he died to sin once and for all; as to his life, he lives for God. Consequently, you too must think of yourselves as dead to sin and living for God in Christ Jesus.

Alleluia

R. Alleluia, alleluia.

You are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation; announce the praises of him who called you out of darkness into his wonderful light.

R. Alleluia, alleluia.

Gospel

Matthew 10:37-42

Jesus said to his apostles:

"Whoever loves father or mother more than me is not worthy of me, and whoever loves son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me; and whoever does not take up his cross and follow after me is not worthy of me. Whoever finds his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life for my sake will find it."

"Whoever receives you receives me, and whoever receives me receives the one who sent me. Whoever receives a prophet because he is a prophet will receive a prophet's reward, and whoever receives a righteous man because he is a righteous man will receive a righteous man's reward. And whoever gives only a cup of cold water to one of these little ones to drink because the little one is a disciple — amen, I say to you, he will surely not lose his reward."

We continue our journey into the Mass, using The Mass Explained series presented by Fr. Kevin & Fr. Max. This content is so incredibly rich, that we are still in the midst of the very first class! (To watch these classes in full, you can scan the code at the end of this column or go to our YouTube channel and look for The Mass Explained playlist.)

Last week we mentioned our difficulty in understanding how to offer God “due” worship. For if God is God, the creator of the entire universe, the author of our very lives, the giver of everything good, the redeemer of our souls; how on earth could we possibly worship Him in a way that could be considered “due” or just?

We begin with a sense of justice, which is rendering what is “due” to another. When I have hurt someone, justice does not demand that they forgive me. Justice would be better rendered as some sort of punishment from them to me. This is what we could reasonably expect to receive from God, who has given us everything, and whom we have spurned in return in our sin. Many sin offerings from the Old Testament and in pagan cultures stem from this sense of justice to the divine; I have sinned, so now I owe God (or the gods) something to demonstrate my sorrow, my contrition. However, we can never adequately even begin to repay God for all that He has given us, and to make up for the many ways in which we have rejected Him. So what is a truly “just” way to worship God? In Romans, St. Paul acknowledges that we do not know how to pray as we ought. Where do we start?

Fr. Max drew our attention to the gift God gives us in His design for worship. From the Passover, when Israelites were delivered from the slavery of Egypt, to the Last Supper, instituted by Jesus Himself, God has given us a blueprint for the worship which He desires from us. In the Spirit of the Liturgy, by then Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger (later Pope Benedict XVI), we see Moses going to Pharaoh to ask him to allow the Israelites to go out into the desert to worship God. Pharaoh, being very cunning, gives permission to do so, but insists that the flocks remain behind, probably as a guarantee that the slaves return home. Moses replies that they need to bring the flocks with them, for they do not yet know how God will ask them to worship Him. It is not until much later, after the first nine plagues, that God will ultimately reveal His plan for worship.

Like the Israelites, we as Christians, would have no idea how to worship God without His direct and explicit instructions. Fortunately, He has given us a command: Do this in remembrance of Me. From 33AD, until now, until He comes again at the Parousia; Do this in remembrance of Me. What is “this”? The sacrifice of the Mass. The offering of the Son, by the Son, through the Holy Spirit, to the Father. The only perfect act of worship; enacted by the priests and bishops, enabled by their incorporation into the apostolic succession of those men who have been configured to Christ, through their ordination by the power of the Holy Spirit.

Just as the Israelites have been called out into the unknown of the wilderness, we too are called out of our place of comfort into a worship that may at first be unfamiliar. As Fr. Max said, we don’t really know what’s going on here, what’s going to happen. There are many elements of the unknown, but like the Israelites, we enter into that wilderness and God reveals to us how He wants to be worshipped. And so this is actually fit and just praise and glory of God.

Although Mass is primarily an opportunity for us to offer God the worship that is due Him, He is never outdone in generosity. Not only does He enable us to give Him due praise and thanks, He also allows us to merit some sort of reward as a result of this worship. In pagan worship, gods were seen as enemies and offerings were a way of manipulating them into giving us what we want. However the true God desires a relationship with us, and He reaches out, across the infinite gap that exists between us, to draw us closer. Next week we will continue to explore just how the Mass draws us into relationship with God.
