Pastor's Corner: Papal Infallibility - As Catholics we believe that the pope is preserved from error by the Holy Spirit when he formally proclaims a definitive doctrine concerning faith or morals while acting as the supreme shepherd of the Church. This is a result of a grace of authority given to Peter when Jesus said to him: "I give you the keys to the Kingdom. Whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven...." (Mathew 16:18-19). What It Is: It is when the successor of St. Peter, the pope, uses his authority as supreme pastor of the Church and speaks "ex cathedra", "from the chair" of Peter to define a doctrine on faith or morals which is to be believed by all Christians. The Holy Spirit protects the pope from error in this specific role. An example would be when Pope Pius XII solemnly defined the dogma of the Assumption of Mary in 1950. What It Is Not: It doesn't mean that the pope can make up teachings or is inspired with new revelations, but he simply clarifies the Gospel as it applies to specific or unique cases of faith or morals. It doesn't mean the pope is personally exempt from error or is sinless. The pope is fully human and fully fallible like the rest of us and so he can make mistakes. His infallibility does not apply to casual remarks, personal opinions, interviews, daily homilies, or administration decisions.

Pray for Vocations - The Office of Vocations will be holding a Discernment Retreat for Women from Friday, October 9, until Sunday, October 11, at the Retreat at Heritage, in Crawfordville, GA for ages 18-35. Please register at calledbychrist.com/events. For more information, contact the Mikayla Hand at 404-920-3104 or mhand@archatl.com.

Infalibilidad papal - Como católicos, creemos que el Papa es preservado del error por el Espíritu Santo cuando proclama formalmente una doctrina definitiva sobre fe o moral, actuando como pastor supremo de la Iglesia. Esto es fruto de una gracia de autoridad otorgada a Pedro cuando Jesús le dijo: "Te daré las llaves del Reino. Todo lo que ates en la tierra quedará atado en el cielo..." (Mateo 16, 18-19). En qué consiste: Ocurre cuando el sucesor de San Pedro, el Papa, ejerce su autoridad como pastor supremo de la Iglesia y habla "ex cathedra" —es decir, "desde la cátedra" de Pedro— para definir una doctrina sobre fe o moral que todos los cristianos deben creer. El Espíritu Santo protege al Papa del error en esta función específica. Un ejemplo de ello fue cuando el Papa Pío XII definió solemnemente el dogma de la Asunción de María en 1950. Lo que no significa: No implica que el Papa pueda inventar enseñanzas o recibir nuevas revelaciones; simplemente aclara el Evangelio en su aplicación a casos específicos o singulares de fe o moral. Tampoco significa que el Papa esté personalmente exento de error o que no peque. El Papa es plenamente humano y plenamente falible, como cualquiera de nosotros, por lo que puede cometer errores. Su infalibilidad no se aplica a comentarios casuales, opiniones personales, entrevistas, homilías cotidianas ni decisiones administrativas.

Recen por las vocaciones - La Oficina de Vocaciones organizará un retiro de discernimiento para mujeres, dirigido a jóvenes de entre 18 y 35 años, desde el viernes 9 de octubre hasta el domingo 11 de octubre en el centro "Retreat at Heritage", en Crawfordville, Georgia. Por favor, inscribanse en calledbychrist.com/events. Para más información, comuníquense con Mikayla Hand llamando al 404-920-3104 o escribiendo a mhand@archatl.com.
